

i saw you on the street

it was what i had to do the day i came to talk to you i had not wanted it thought it was over long ago but i saw you on the street when you were gone and i was strong i said reluctantly i missed you that's just how it goes take this ball, take this chain take the blizzards and the rain take this heartache from my soul take away the pain

there's nothing more that i can do
and the pain of loving you seems i haven't got the beats to make a measure – just repeat a common pattern so i had to clear the matter in my mind i'll just say good-bye forever move on to some new endeavor we can see us on the judgement day or just another place and time
