

minds of men

the lord hath stilled
in minds of men
that grass is greener
in the glen
where they're not at;
and when they go
to where it's at
it's really brown;
and that
it's still the same
when home again